DEAR FRIENDS,

Under a new three-year strategic plan, Howard Brown Health made enormous strides in 2017 expanding the depth and reach of our services citywide.

We opened clinics in the Edgewater, Hyde Park, Back of the Yards, and Lakeview neighborhoods and relocated the Broadway Youth Center, a healing community for LGBTQ and homeless youth, to a new and more expansive facility.

We increased access to psychiatry services across the network; began offering walk-in sexual health screening services in Rogers Park; expanded GED tutoring, family planning, and on-site legal assistance citywide; and redoubled HIV prevention and care efforts with the new Same Day Start protocol, citywide outreach screening programs, and comprehensive PrEP and PEP assistance. In the year ahead, we plan to expand our services for women, invest in behavioral health services, and begin offering dental care at our 63rd Street clinic.

These efforts aim to make LGBTQ-affirming healthcare more convenient and affordable for everyone.

With 10 clinic locations from Rogers Park on the far north side to Englewood on the south side, Howard Brown now spans nearly 20 miles and serves more than 30,000 individuals each year. In addition, our three Brown Elephant resale stores connect supporters to the mission with their donations and purchases of gently used furniture, clothing, and household goods.

The need for nonjudgmental and culturally competent care has never been greater. Each month, on average, 300 or more individuals schedule first-time appointments at Howard Brown. Many first-time patients seek insurance enrollment counseling, which has successfully connected thousands of Howard Brown patients to Medicaid, marketplace coverage, or other medical benefits. Without adequate coverage, many people would be forced to ration food, transportation, or money for rent or forgo lifesaving healthcare treatments; these are choices no one should have to make.

In order to amplify LGBTQ-affirming policy and practice, Howard Brown launched this year the Center for Education, Research and Advocacy, or ERA. ERA mines our programs and research studies for best practices that may be replicated elsewhere or used to inform enlightened social policy. Everyone at Howard Brown from our loyal patients, dedicated staff, and generous donors have a role to play in championing better, healthier futures.

With your assistance, we can continue to press for a world that values and uplifts the lives of LGBTQ people and allies.

Sincerely,

David Ernesto Munar

HOWARD BROWN ON THE MOVE

In 2017, we expanded services, increased care access with new sites and extended hours, and improved internal infrastructure to better attend to patient needs citywide. Some recent accomplishments include:

EXPANSION OF PSYCHIATRY SERVICES

Howard Brown has made a significant commitment to psychiatry, bolstering our already robust behavioral health programs. While we have long offered limited access to psychiatry, we now have multiple psychiatry professionals stationed across the network to expand access for those whose complex needs require a higher level of care. Psychiatry is now offered at seven of our nine clinics, with special emphasis on services for vulnerable young people and south side residents via our Broadway Youth Center, 63rd Street, and Thresholds South locations. The collaboration with Thresholds, Illinois' largest behavioral health organization, integrates services from both organizations to better meet the needs of patients affected by severe mental illnesses.

EVOLVING THE MODEL OF CARE FOR TRANSGENDER AND GENDER NONCONFORMING PATIENTS

In 2017, we established an interdisciplinary transgender and gender nonconforming (TGNC) health team to address the wrap-around service needs of this vulnerable population. The team completed a patient survey administered to TGNC patients to determine ways to better serve them, created a TGNC patient rights document that is visible at all of our locations, and made recommendations that were incorporated into the agency strategic plan. We hired a TGNC health manager and will also begin offering navigation to TGNC patients who require additional assistance with surgery, legal issues, housing, employment, and other basic needs. In the coming years, we will continue to invest in broadening supports to our 3,500+ TGNC patients.

SURVEY SHOWS HIGH PATIENT SATISFACTION

Howard Brown recently completed a patient satisfaction survey to help us better serve our community. With questions about customer service, medical staff, and overall experience, we had high rates of satisfaction in all areas. Findings from this survey have led to changes to improve timely access to care, reduce call time waits, and increase overall accessibility to services. Specific changes include increasing same-day appointments and evening and weekend hours at all sites; nurse availability for real-time triage via phone through the call center; improved staffing for prescription authorizations, referrals, and medical records access; and more. We will complete a follow-up survey in 2018 and continue to monitor patient satisfaction measures in order to ensure high-quality and affirming care to all people.

PEOPLE SCREENING POSITIVE FOR HIV GET SAME DAY START

In 2017, Howard Brown introduced Same Day Start, allowing people to start treatment the same day they are diagnosed with HIV. Same Day Start puts patients in control of their health and reduces the impacts of stigma by normalizing treatment. It helps to ensure long-term health and supports patients in achieving a suppressed viral load sooner. Helping people living with HIV achieve a suppressed viral load sooner also helps to reduce the risk for transmission. Throughout the process of engaging in care, our team supports patients by helping them navigate care and treatment and assisting them with resources to support their health.

SUPPORT THE MISSION BY SHOPPING AT BROWN ELEPHANT

Our Brown Elephant stores in Lakeview, Andersonville, and Oak Park continue to be an engine of support for our mission, contributing $800,000 to support LGBTQ health in fiscal year 2017. Looking for fine jewelry, real collectors' items, or other special stuff? Check out our eBay for Charity store at howardbrown.org/ebay.

LAUNCH OF THE CENTER FOR EDUCATION, RESEARCH, AND ADVOCACY

A DIVISION OF HOWARD BROWN HEALTH

Howard Brown launched its Center for Education, Research, and Advocacy (ERA) in April 2017. ERA conducts rigorous community-based medical and behavioral research, cultivates responsive healthcare professionals, and advances policies that affirm the lives of LGBTQ people and their families. ERA identifies and shares community-driven best practices in LGBTQ health with other healthcare providers and the world at large.

Examples include ERA's Midwest LGBTQ Health Symposium, yielding hundreds of hours of provider continuing education. ERA also amplified the results of our practice by annually publishing a Community Impact Report and periodic special reports, such as the recently released Epidemiology Report.

OUR PATIENTS

BROADWAY YOUTH CENTER GIVES ABDUL HIS LIFE BACK

Abdul graduated from high school when he was just 13 years old – “I’ve always loved to write... I’ve been published in some magazines and I’m currently working on a book,” he states. But the day he got

Not to be stopped, he went to the library and found the Broadway Youth Center (BYC), where he got help replacing his ID card then accessed medical care and drop-in services.

“For my whole life, I had a mysterious illness – I was sick all the time, and no one could tell me what I had. I experienced photosensitivity, seizures, abdominal pain, weakness, numbness in my arms, legs, and face. Sometimes, I even had hallucinations. Doctors would tell my parents that they were probably psychosomatic, resulting from depression.”

At BYC, “my provider did some research and diagnosed me with porphyria, an extremely rare but life-threatening disease that affects the nervous system.” After 23 years, Abdul finally had an answer. “Without BYC, I don’t think I’d be alive.”

Now, Abdul gives back; he facilitates a creative writing group where people share with each other without judgment or criticism. “It can be really revealing about who they are and where they come from.... BYC lets people express who they really are.”

KEISHA MARIE ACCESSES THERAPY

“As a young, broke student, I wanted to get counseling but couldn’t afford it. The therapists at Howard Brown meet all my needs in ways I was struggling to find in other therapists. I have a lot of intersecting identities – there are many layers to me that I hope a therapist would consider. I feel at Howard Brown, those parts of me are accounted for. I’m a woman, a black woman, Jamaican/Texan, queer, a student, and dealing with trauma.

Going to Howard Brown for behavioral health services has been great. I feel hopeful and I appreciate the therapist’s style. He makes me feel safe and acknowledged as a whole person. He makes sure I feel okay to leave at the end of a session. With other therapists in the past, I would open up and didn’t realize how much I need to close things back up so I could leave and go about my day – I didn’t want to leave feeling like I’m emotionally bleeding everywhere.

If Howard Brown wasn’t around I’d probably still be looking for something that fits my needs and is affordable. Here everyone is so friendly. In addition to therapy, I can get STI screenings. If someone is looking for a therapist that notices your intersectionality and sees your whole identity, Howard Brown is a great place. Even if you can’t pay, they are still available for you, and can offer group therapy if you can’t afford individual therapy.”

HOWARD BROWN’S RESEARCH ARM GIVES RON NEW CHOICES

Letheron, or Ron, moved to Chicago for a job right out of college, 32 years ago, and has been a patient since the 1980s; he was diagnosed with HIV in 1989. “I chose Howard Brown because they are knowledgeable about my condition and they are compassionate. Everyone is polite, generous with their time, caring, and I don’t see myself going anywhere else for care,” he says.

About three years ago, he tried an infectious disease specialist at a local hospital, and felt they weren’t knowledgeable about HIV. “I had some tests done wrong and they gave me the wrong scripts – there was a lot of back and forth. That’s when I decided I’d never go anywhere else.” Ron continues, “I come here because the staff here are excellent, they know my name, and they are pleasant people.”

When Ron was first diagnosed, he was depressed, but he made staying healthy his “main objective.” In addition to HIV, Ron also manages chronic gastrological issues, including hiccups that can last up to two days, which makes it hard to keep medication down.

Because Howard Brown serves more than 4,200 patients living with HIV, we participate in research into innovative treatments. Ron enrolled in a study at Howard Brown for a new injectable HIV medication. Now he gets a shot every week, in addition to the oral medications.

“Getting the shot seems to work better – my viral load is down now. I feel good about that,” says Ron. He continued, “My team gives me courage. My provider is great – she’s a people person and so compassionate and concerned. Once she said to me, ‘I want you to get better,’ and she puts a lot of effort into getting me on the right track.”

CRAIG GIVES BACK

In 2016, Craig Andree found that he wanted to spend time helping others. A friend who knew that Craig had experience mentoring LGBTQ youth recommended the Broadway Youth Center. Craig and his husband Frank Quinn soon visited BYC and “that was it.” Craig and Frank made a generous donation to support Broadway Youth Center. But that’s not all.

“Seeing a young person without a support system is heartbreaking. We have to fight for them,” Craig says. Craig fights by volunteering four hours a week at BYC, where he assists staff providing HIV prevention services for trans youth of color and their partners.

Craig and Frank love the BYC because it offers accessible resources to young people in a safe, welcoming environment. To learn more about how you can help Broadway Youth Center, visit howardbrown.org/BYC.
